

Nox glass cabinet

The sideboards and display cabinets in our Nox line typically impress with their high quality material and artfully S-shaped wood joints. For the sideboards, you can choose between sliding doors made of solid wood or glass, or you could opt for drawers instead. Naturally you can also combine the two. The display cabinets come in two different heights, whereby the larger one conceals an especially refined detail: An integrated drawer which, thanks to the sophisticated construction inside, appears to float. The models with palladium glass offer even more special effects: Combined with a focused LED illumination, the noble solid wood and dark glass cast an effective highlight on your favourite objects.
