

Cloud sofa

Cloud by Francesco Rota is a sofa designed as a big unit game, combining free and organic shapes, matched or opposed offering original solutions suitable for domestic living rooms but also for wide contract spaces. Playful geometries with countless compositions, to be designed profiting from eleven units and three different types of arms, with different sizes, shapes and heights to be used freely: a central unit used as terminal unit, and vice versa, or self-standing becoming a pouf; the back panel can be used as a side panel or a separating unit between two seats. The arm can become a seat or a table. Different colors available as well, thus matching different units, in different finishes, fabrics and textures as well.
