

Yard Daybed

Designed by Francesco Rota, the elegant Yard daybed, also proposed in an elegant leather version with metal lacquered bronze, recall the aesthetic features of the same name sofa re-interpreting the typical creativity of the industrial design of the '60s. The structure, made in metal upholstered with fabric, is a top supported by feet joined through hooks of rectangular section that provides supports to the cushions and armrests, laid without hiding it, in a harmonious contrast that becomes its main aesthetic feature.
