

Lui Plus chair

The crumpled look typical of the Lui family can also be found on the inside of Lui Plus. The comfortable seat shell is reminiscent of its big brother grand Lui. With Lui Plus, however, the armrests are significantly lower – allowing more freedom of movement and various seating positions. The sides of the Lui Plus seat curve up, giving a sense of security and comfort – similar to a shell seat. The height of the armrests is designed to allow the chair to fit easily under any table top. This saves space when the chair is not being used. Whether with a base frame made of solid wood, with a swivel base or a wire frame: Lui Plus always appears casual and light and everyone loves its comfort.
