

Times bed

At first glance, the Times bed looks like it is floating. The bed owes its light appearance to its clever construction that keeps the feet out of sight. Its neat, minimalist stylistic elements also help you get a good night's sleep. The simple curves do not distract from dreaming. In spite of its airily light appearance, the Times bed also conveys a sense of comfort and security. This is due to the solid wood frame - and the natural characteristics of wood as a material. No metal is used at all in the ingenious construction of this bed. Instead, strong wooden slot joints are used, which also allow easy assembly and disassembly of the times bed. Several times, if you like.
