

Tube pendant light

Ichiro Iwasaki creates Tube , an innovative modular system of hanging lamps : a network of tubes that direct the light from a single connection to different shades that can be placed wherever required. The light flows following a precise design path which at the same time provides interior designers and architects with great freedom to personalize multiple configurations.

