

FM-129 Lomo chair

Consequentially developed

With the Rex armchair, sitting has been revolutionized - by the FM-129; this unique concept now became a twin brother: the same idea - the same philosophy - only the design is a little different.

The proven dynamic movement mechanism, which uniquely follows the seated person without any mechanical effort, is also integrated into the new FM version. As with its brother Rex, the spinal column is gently supported and a relaxing sitting posture is additionally promoted by the seat shell, which is extended to the pelvic level.

The further developed pressure distribution of the backrest makes it possible to additionally improve the seating comfort.

