

Mayfair Floor Lamp

The designer Diego Fortunato is the author of the Mayfair floor lamp for Vibia. This floor lamp is an obvious example of the evolution of 19th Century lighting models. Consisting of a metal structure, a methacrylate or steel shade, depending on the model and a polycarbonate diffuser. The user can choose between a wide range of up to four different finishes that respond to current market design trends. Perfect for use in living room areas, circulation zones or bedrooms. Featuring a LED light source that can be dimmed using an optical sensor.
